The Elizabeth C. White Story

Internationally known as the Pioneer Blueberry Grower, Elizabeth C. White of Whitesbog, N. J. is noted for her original work in selecting and improving the cultivated Blueberry. Over two decades ago, Miss White made possible the giant commercial Blueberry Industry with her large, heavy producing berries. She found and propagated superior varieties which have been sought by blueberry growers all over the world.

In recent years she has turned her experienced eye to the selection of the best native holly, Ilex opaca. Legions of American Holly clones have been tested at Whitesbog for many years. From these, Miss White has chosen the very best for beauty of form and foliage . . . for reliable fruitfulness . . . for hardiness . . . for best colored berries.

Now you can have, at modest cost, the choicest of American Hollies, proven by time, chosen personally by Miss White, a holly expert.
